Budget boost may increase tuition

RAIG EDWARDS
Administration editor

The Board of Governors meets Monday to consider the recommended 21.3 percent budget boost, students will see an increase in tuition for the spring semester.

BOG Chair Thomas Layzell made the budget recommendation at the board's regular meeting at 8 a.m. Monday in Oak Hall.

BOG spokesman Meyer said the board will discuss the possibility of a tuition hike for the spring semester.

Eastern President Stan Rives said although he is philosophically opposed to tuition increases above the rate of inflation, he believes the increase is necessary.

"Although we hope to receive better funding next year, we have to make up for the lack of funding this year," Rives said Thursday.

He said he doubts the board will approve a tuition hike as high as the $150 a semester increase enacted this semester at the University of Illinois. "I think we're going to see an increase of anywhere from $75 to $100 a semester," Rives said, adding that although the board will discuss the tuition increase Monday, he doesn't expect any action until the October meeting.

If the board does approve the increase in October, it will be the second increase for students at the five BOG universities in a year.

After a mid-year tuition increase of $96 per semester last spring, Eastern students currently pay $1,236 per academic year for lower division coursework and $1,260 per academic year for upper division coursework.

Rives hopes the budget increase for 1990 will stop further tuition increases. "We have to stop shifting more of the responsibility to the students and their parents and make the state pay for what they are responsible for," Rives said.

In addition to the recommended budget increase for Eastern, Layzell will request the following hikes for the other four universities governed by the BOG: Chicago State University, 20.9 percent; Governors State University, 20.2 percent; Northeastern Illinois University, 19.5 percent and Western Illinois University, 18.4 percent.

The BOG will need $220.9 million for Fiscal Year 1990 to provide the increases and adequately fund the five universities.

"This amount is necessary as a result in part of the 1989 appropriation," Layzell said in an issued statement.

Former C.I.A. agent explains covert operations some, however, conducting covert operations is a way of life.

For others, as in the case of Ralph McGehee, that way of life could not be lived with a clear conscience any longer.

McGehee, a CIA agent for 25 years, was recruited in the 1950s thinking he could help democracy and protect the United States through this all-American intelligence branch.

During his years of trying to defend democracy, McGehee traveled to Thailand, Japan, Philippines and Vietnam.

It was in Vietnam that I realized it was not an organization at all," McGehee said during talks in Coleman Auditorium on Monday, McGehee travels the United States speaking out against the actions of the CIA. For seven years he protested from within the organization until meeting new guidelines.

After retiring, McGehee described his life and experiences in DEADLY DECEIT, a book that took five years to write. The writing took only three years of that. The other two years involved proving to the agency that no material included was any confidential material.

McGehee said all information he presented in books and lectures must be cleared by the CIA because of a secrecy agreement that he, and another two million government employees, signed when beginning their jobs.

His internal protesting made McGehee an outcast in the agency. "When you protest from within a bureaucracy, you become the enemy," he explained.

McGehee began his career with the CIA after being rejected by the Green Bay Packers football team during his Notre Dame University years.

He said when recruiting, the agency looked for patriotic individuals who would be willing to do anything for their country. "I was externalized, regulated and adaptable," he said, the type of individual the agency favored.

"I went in convinced it was for the good of my country . . . to protect democracy."

This attitude kept him going even when the reality of the CIA's actions began to set in.

"In my opinion, it's nothing but a propaganda organization," McGehee said.

He began to form his opinion after volunteering to be sent into Vietnam, prompting the agency to conduct a mandatory psychiatric evaluation on McGehee.

"I wanted to go to Vietnam," he said. "There I saw where reality was totally distorted."

Covert operations were not just conducted in foreign countries, but also in the lap of America.

To emphasize his beliefs, McGehee said

Lincoln-Douglas Debate' to question state convention

NANCY ISRAEL
State activities editor

Illinois need to hold a Constitutional Convention in question will be the subject of a Lincoln-Douglas debate on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Hazard Building Auditorium.

The debate is sponsored by the social science department and is open to the public and free of charge.

Quinn, organizer of the Citizens for Constitutional Reform, and John Lattimer, executive utive director of the Illinois Commission on Intergovernmental Cooperation, will give their opposing ideas concerning the possibility of a convention.

Quinn is a strong supporter of the convention, but Lattimer is against the proposal.

After the debate, members of the audience will be able to ask Quinn and Lattimer questions about their viewpoints on the convention.

Illinois voters will have the opportunity to express their views about the convention on the Nov.

8 ballot.

A referendum about the constitutional convention will appear on the ballot and determine if voters support or oppose it.

If voters are in favor of a convention, some of the issues that might be reformed include citizen initiative, recall, merit selection of judges, better education funding and property tax reform.

The convention will examine the Compensation Review Board, which has the power to set the salaries of legislators, judges, statewide elected officials and high-level bureaucrats. It may also improve the Illinois Freedom of Information Act, the Political Campaign Finance Rules and prohibit conflict of interest voting.

Lattimer graduated from Southern Illinois University, received his master's degree from the University of Kansas and has completed all but his dissertation for a doctorate.

He was a staff chair of the National Conference of State Legislatures and holds both elected and appointed positions in Illinois local government. He also has written several articles about intergovernmental relations and legislative staffing.

Quinn supports the convention and he believes that the reforms will save Illinois taxpayers millions of dollars through more efficient government.

Besides organizing Citizens for Constitutional Reform, Quinn is a former commissioner of the Cook County Board of (Tax) Appeals and the founder of the Coalition for Political Honesty.

Andrew McNitt, political science professor, will be the moderator of the debate.

Aide seizes military power

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti—Brig. Gen. Prosper Avril, a former military adviser for the Duvalier dictatorship, declared himself president on Sunday after ousting Lt. Gen. Henri Namphy.

Avril, adjutant general of the army, said in an early morning address on national television that the Presidential Guard toppled Namphy on Saturday because it was "sickened" by the way Namphy governed. Namphy was sent to the neighboring Dominican Republic.

Residents reported hearing heavy gunfire Saturday night near the presidential palace in what appeared to be fighting between military factions.

Frantz Lubin, Haiti's director of information, said soldiers were killed, but Avril mentioned no casualties.

Avril took over a week after about 20 men armed with machetes, handguns and steel pipes attacked a church during a Mass being said by the Rev. Jean Bertrand Aristide.

Floods in Mexico kill at least 60

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP)—Workers searched on Sunday for the bodies of up to 200 people swept away when a river poured over its banks and overturned four buses. Sixty people were confirmed dead.

The buses were caught in the path of the Santa Catarina River when a flash flood spawned by Hurricane Gilbert ripped a 40-mile-long path of destruction Saturday through northern Mexico's most populated region.

It was the epilogue to a week of death and havoc caused by Gilbert, which ravaged the Yucatan Peninsula resort areas of Cancun, Cozumel and Isla Mujeres before crossing the Gulf of Mexico and hitting Mexico again in the northeast near Texas.

The storm killed at least 98 people while coursing the Caribbean, including 29 in the Yucatan when it hit land last Wednesday with winds of up to 200 mph, 26 in Jamaica, 30 in Haiti, five in the Dominican Republic and eight in Honduras. Two people were killed Saturday in Texas by tornados spawned by the storm.

But it was in this capital of the state of Nuevo Leon where Gilbert exacted its highest death toll as it weakened into a tropical storm late Friday.

Gilbert's rains created a 10-foot-deep, 150-foot-wide torrent of muddy water by Saturday when the river roared through Monterrey. By Sunday, it was almost back to its normal size, 20 feet, allowing soldiers to use cranes to pull the crushed bodies of one intercity passenger from the mud.

Burma president overthrown Sunday

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Armed forces commander Saw Maung ousted the civilian president on Sunday, and thousands of people surged into the streets to demand democracy and protest the fourth change in the government in two months.

Gen. Saw Maung said in a statement broadcast by state Radio Rangoon that he overthrew President Maung Maung to halt economic and social chaos and to hold democratic elections after 26 years of authoritarian rule.

The fate of Maung Maung was not known. There were no reports of casualties or arrests but sporadic shooting was reported in the capital.

Camren impressed with convention predictions

KE SPRINCZ
Staff writer

Former Student Body President Deb Camren said "she was impressed by the education and enthusiasm of the women," at a convention held over the weekend. She spoke at the convention titled, "Preparing for the 21st Century. Who Will Shape Society's Agenda?" Camren, a senior personnel management major, attended a conference last summer, which prepared her to speak.

Camren spoke to 20 members from the American Association of University Women (AAUW) Saturday at the Charleston Motor Inn about some points the speakers brought up during the two-day conference.

Camren said the keynote speaker was Governor Bill Clinton of Arkansas who said he was a strong supporter of education.

He added, "we (U.S.) need to produce products more efficiently to be more competitive with other countries. Clinton also said there should be equal education for everyone regardless of their race or income level and that the U.S. needs to work "together as one so we can make a better nation."

After Governor Clinton's speech, a panel of six media and education representatives spoke. A panel member said that "we need to improve the integrity and trust in our country as well as saying that the media can affect our country."

Media and education representatives said that education is a lifelong affair and that people need role models to look up to.

A group of three members said women have a specific role in the 21st century. They added the quality of education is improving which will lead to a growth in the work force.

Another seminar Camren attended over the summer titled, "Models for Social Change: Then and Now" emphasized that young, poor, black women were responsible for changes in the 20th century.

Juggler's club to meet Monday

By BRIAN BIRKY
Staff writer

Tired of dropping forks and spoons on the floor in an attempt to impress people with unique juggling skills?

Maybe joining the juggling club can help.

The juggling club, new to Eastern's campus, currently has 22 members. The organization which meets at 5 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday on the South Quad is taught by Mike Thomason.

Thomason runs a press at Moore Business Forms. He noted that the club is open to anybody interested in juggling, whether they have experience or not.

Thomason became interested in starting a club at Eastern after learning how to juggle a few years ago.

"I made a New Years resolution to learn how to juggle," Thomason said.

He has been a member of the International Juggling Association (IJA) for two years, and currently is the only IJA member in Eastern's juggling club.

The club is in the process of being recognized as a campus organization, "the paperwork should be finished in a couple of weeks," Thomason noted.

Thomason said he tries to perform for the public as much as possible. Recently, the club juggled on the South Quad and before that they entertained at the Special Olympics in Mattoon.

Thomason has a special character he portrays in his performances. He portrays "Kitar" in his act where Thomason is a "Ninja juggler." He dresses up in a Ninja suit and juggles torches.

"I also have an interest in the martial arts, so I try to combine the two," Thomason said.

'Fall Blow Out Bash' may never take place—Organizers

AMY CARR
News editor

Organizers of the recently-cancelled Fall Blow Out Bash said today they may attempt to hold the party at a later date, but think the odds of the party actually happening are slim.

The party, which was scheduled for last Friday, was cancelled on Thursday when the Coles County Sheriff's Department and the State's Attorney's Office learned of the group. Students for the party, had not obtained a liquor license to hold such an event at Springhaven Park. The park is under county jurisdiction. The group had planned to donate profits from the party to Big Brother/Big Sister of Coles County.

Coles County Sheriff Jim Kimball said Sunday that the group had come to him earlier in the year about the charity event.

He said he informed the three students at the time that it was possible to obtain a special liquor permit for one-day events.

"They were told some months ago," Kimball said. "I assumed they had taken care of it (the liquor license)."

Rodney Deneseus, one of the organizers, said he went to Charleston Mayor Murray Choate seeking a liquor license, but was turned down.

Choate has no jurisdiction over the park, therefore could not issue a permit, Kimball said.

He noted that oftentimes organizations will seek a one-day permit in these events by contacting the county chair and the Illinois Liquor Control Board. Kimball said he believes it would still have been unlikely the group would have received the permit had they used these procedures.

For the time being, the students are cutting their losses and mov-

Bash story corrected

In Friday's edition of The Daily Eastern News falsely quoted an unidentified source alleging Jerry Myerscough and John Ward plotted with Charleston Mayor Murray Choate to cancel a party for charity.

Organizer Jim Dinasso estimated the losses at about $1,200. But, hopes of having the bash have not completely diminished.

"Rodney and I sat down and talked about possibly doing it this year," Dinasso said. "But, I think, politically the odds are against us. One thing's for sure -- next time we'll cover all our bases."

Dinasso and Deneseus believe phone calls from two local bar owners to Kimball may have influenced the cancellation.

Kimball said he was under the impression that the liquor license had been obtained until he received phone calls from Jerry Myerscough, of Jerry's Pub, 1508 Fourth St., and John Ward, of Page One Tavern, 410 Sixth St. questioning the legalities of the event.

"Myerscough and Ward contacted me about the legalities of that (the party)," Kimball said. "They may not have had any financial interests, but I can't prove that." He added that the two men questioned both the fact that the students had not obtained a liquor license and whether or not the profits would actually go to charity.

Ward said Sunday. "My concern is that they do not have a liquor license. I asked (Kimball) if I could rent Springhaven out every Sunday without a liquor license. If they could do it, I wanted to do it."

Dinasso said the group considered having the party without the liquor but decided against it. "Sure, we could of had the party without alcohol," he said. "But, how many people will want to just sit and watch bands. We advertised that there would be alcohol. I wouldn't want to have a party and say we would have alcohol and then not have any."

End zone is not really a bad place

Eastern has begun a new tradition concerning its home football games by putting the Panther Marching Band on the visitor side of the field.

This, however, detracts from one of the services provided by the band.

Editorial The marching band not only plays before and after the game and during halftime, but it also is a cheering section used to get the fans into the spirit of the game.

Members of the band play songs and do stunts involving singing and chants in an attempt to get Eastern fans involved in cheering the Panthers on to victory.

They even help the cheerleaders. One year the drum major helped kidnap Illinois State University's mascot and the crowd loved it.

Now the issue of available seats comes into play. The apparent reason behind moving the band to the other side was so the seats the members used to occupy can be sold.

However, the band members are arguing there is plenty of room during the season for them to sit in the home stands they have become accustomed to.

The problem of available seats usually is only during Parents' Weekend and Homecoming. It is during those two games the band was put in the end zone so the home stands could be used to full capacity.

The band complained then that they couldn't see the game.

At the basketball games there is a small band off to one side of the court, not in the stands and they do not complain.

The main thing is to keep the band closer to the home side so they can continue to keep the school spirit alive during the football games.

Being in the stands does allow the students to hear the band, but they can't see the cute routines and stunts the members do. Part of involving the students is being seen.

Therefore, being in or around the end zone is not necessarily a bad idea. The band can still be heard and the students can see them dance around and do the wave.

Correction

It was incorrectly stated in the Sept. 14 edition of The Daily Eastern News that campus police lines are answered by telephone operators. Eastern's information service is made up of police telecommunicators. Also in Friday's edition it was incorrectly stated Karl Marx pulled the Soviets out of the Olympics in 1912. Marx was from Germany and died in 1883. The News regrets these errors.

'Townie' gives insight as a student

Townie.
That's me.
I've heard that word a lot in my more than 21 years of residence in Coles County.

You see, I'm one of those people who was born and raised in Coles County, and now I'm an Eastern student as well--a very special position when you consider the unique insight it gives me by putting me on both sides of the town-gown split.

I know what the college students think of us residents, and I know what the residents think of us college students.

Maybe that's how I can be so outraged when I see college students being disrespectful of local residents. Not all college students act that way, but those who do give the rest of us a bad name.

Take last week for example.

A friend and I were driving through a part residential, part student neighborhood late the other night when we passed a parked car. Outside the car was a group of college men yelling obscenities about Charleston and mooning passersby.

The fact it was nearly 1 a.m. and that they were parked by a residential neighborhood didn't seem to matter to them.

The fact that some small child was probably lying in bed, after being awakened by the noise, listening to the obscenities didn't seem to matter either.

The fact that several adults who had to be at work in the morning had been awakened, along with several children who had to be at school early the next day, didn't seem to matter either.

Maybe these "men" thought they were being cool. Maybe they were just so drunk they didn't know what they were doing.

But I knew, and I was ashamed and repulsed at the same time. I couldn't believe anyone could be so disrespectful and so unthoughtful of the residents around them.

Then there's unfortunate incident number two.

I had stopped in at one of my favorite Charleston grocery stores and was cashing a check last week when I became the victim of yet another bad attitude on the part of a fellow student.

Chrystal Philpott

Because I still live at home with my parents, the address at the top of my checks says "R.R. 1 Box 267, Lerna."

Now any local resident or anyone who has lived around Charleston for any period of time knows that Lerna is not only in Coles County, but also that it's only about 15 minutes southwest of Charleston. My house is only 10 minutes away, located in between the two towns.

Obviously the rude young man on the other side of the check-cashing counter has only been at Eastern a short while.

His ignorance and bad attitude were blatant when he, after taking one look at my young face, refused to cash my check until I presented an Eastern ID.

"I'm a local resident, and this is my local address. I've lived here all my life. I don't need to show you an Eastern ID," I said.

"Unless you show me your Eastern ID I won't cash the check," he persisted.

After several minutes of arguing with him, I finally showed my ID, got my cash and left, vowing never to go back to such a place that employs such rude and ignorant students. I couldn't help wondering as I left how many other local residents were refused services there because they didn't have an Eastern ID.

Maybe some would say I'm bitter toward many of my fellow students. But if I am, it's only because of a lifetime of such bad student-related experiences with that small group of students who seem to be trying to ruin life for the rest of us.

Charleston is a great place to live. There are a lot of great residents and a lot of great students living here.

But it's only going to be a nice place to live if we treat each other with a little respect. We can't always change the attitudes of the local residents toward us, but we can do something to change our own attitudes.

Just doing little things like being nicer to local residents and keeping our radios turned down late at night can make a big difference in our relations with local residents.

If we try harder, they'll try harder. Trust me. I know. I'm a townie.

Chrystal Philpott is the editor-in-chief and a regular columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Band deserves fair coverage

Editor:

The Daily Eastern News isn't fair. Football, soccer, board meetings and even events going on in Charleston are being covered in the newspaper.

Just recently the fraternities were covered because of a mistake of the editors. There still is one activity that hasn't been covered at all; the EIU Panther Marching Band.

There has only been one picture in the paper and it made it look like the band consisted of two tuba players.

No one covered the road trip to ISU and the Bears game, as well as our home opener.

The band practices over eight hours a week, almost as much as the football team.

I guess the marching band isn't important. They proved that by putting the band on the 20 yard line on the opposite side of the field.

IFC extends its gratitude

Editor:

The fraternity system at EIU would like to extend to The Daily Eastern News its sincere gratitude for the positive attention that has been focused on our contributions to both the community and students.

The point of our disagreement concerns an article that was published on a single fraternity last week. Undoubtedly, the fraternity in question was deserving of media attention due to its fine tradition of excellence on our campus. The timing, however, of this article was poorly run on the first day of rush week. Consequently, Eastern's many other fraternities that are equally deserving of media attention were denied the same recognition. Translated this means that Eastern's many other fraternities will be placed in a disadvantaged position for both rush and community relations.

We must welcome the new positive outlook in the coverage of Greek events. But to avoid this problem happening again it would be advisable to either refrain from publishing fraternity accomplishments of one chapter during rush week or grant an equal access to all fraternities.

International students first '88 tea party planned

MARIE GROVES
Writer

The Association of International Students will hold its first international tea of the year. The tea will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at President Stan Rives' home at 1112 Williamsburg Dr. Eastern has 71 international students, 29 of them are new to the university. Most of the students are from countries from the Far East said Marilyn Thomas, secretary for the international student services. The tea will be sponsored by the Paris Thanksgiving International Fellowship. Nut bread, cookies and punch will be served, said member Gay Tegler. Glenn Williams, vice president of student affairs, will be the guest speaker, replacing Rives who had to go out of town. Williams will speak on the importance of international cultural exchange with Eastern students. Eastern gives the international students first hand experience of the average American. "I think Eastern is a real good slice of mid-continent America," Williams said. There is a student exchange program on campus, but the majority of international students attend Eastern through the catalogues sent abroad or by word of mouth, Williams noted.

ix students chosen for Storybook

PAUL HANSELL
Writer

Eastern students were chosen during open auditions for the Charleston Area Storybook Theater Group. The local acting group chose students to play various parts in three stories aimed at the younger audiences of the area. Charleston Area Storybook Theater was founded two years ago by four people who were once actors for the theater. This years cast includes Lisa Whitt, Julie St Peter, Kelly Lee, Emiley Morris, Leisa Sittner and Erin Buttry. The group has different performances throughout the year. "We're a local theater group which performs three times a year. We put on short plays in the fall, at Christmas and in the spring," Jenna Kyle, Eastern graduate and director of the show said. This year the group is using all students, which is new, Kayle said. She added that generally they use community members for the parts. "We are a local community theater group who does childrens stories," she said.

earch continues for Woodstock killer

WOODSTOCK, Ill. (AP)- Just a month after their parents were killed, three Woodstock teenagers are coping with the loss. Law enforcement officials are trying to find the former high school football star suspected in the slayings. Last week, Colleen Ritter, 17, a senior at Marian Central Catholic High School, completed her second week of school, accompanied by a police guard. But police have been stymied in their efforts to find Richard J. Church, Ritter's former boyfriend and the athlete who had gone on to attend Northern Illinois University. Church has been charged with the killings. Ritter suffered a head injury in the Aug. 21 attack that left her parents, Raymond and Ruth Ann Ritter, dead. She has since resumed her position as secretary of the school's student council.

Craft Depot stations opportunity

writer

Whether you already enjoy arts and crafts, or don't know the first thing about making a braid, the Craft Depot has something for you. Currently, the depot is registering students, faculty and staff for workshops and mini-workshops starting Sept. 26. The workshops are being held in five-week sessions, lasting of about 10 hours each, $25 per session plus supplies. These workshops can be taken in pottery, calligraphy, photography, stained glass, or needlecraft. Mini-workshops are offered for those with really busy schedules. Craft Depot Coordinator

Diann Gunn.

The Craft Depot's hours are 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Friday.

All university faculty staff, alumni and their spouses and the community are invited to the Craft Depot also. They can use the facilities and enroll in workshops by purchasing a semester membership card for $5.

Gunn has been operating the Craft Depot since the fall of 1982 as a part of the Office of Student Activities.

She calls it a "leisure learning center. For non-art people to experiment and have fun."

Although workshops are offered twice each semester and once in the summer, students, faculty and staff are welcome to "spend leisure time doing their own creative work in the studio area," Gunn said.

Open lab is available when workshops are not going on. For use of the darkroom, ceramic facilities and the general craft room, people must simply pay for the materials they use.

Numerous services such as mending, matting, laminating, silkscreen, calligraphy, layout and design, and black and white photo processing are always available too.

Registering for workshops can be as simple as picking up the phone and dialing 581-5334, or even stopping by the Craft Depot located in the lower west end of the University Union, Gunn said.

Eastern students learn skills at Disney

EBBIE EISAMAN

Forty lucky Eastern students were given the opportunity to earn money and have fun in the process while working at Disney World in Florida over the summer. Cheryl Copper, senior marketing major and Lori Lovell, junior administration major, among those chosen last year when the company came to campus for interviews.

The Walt Disney World College Program allowed about 40 Eastern students to earn money but more importantly to gain work experience and possible credits toward a degree, Copper said.

Lori Lovell and Cheryl Copper, as merchandise hostesses at the Emporium at Disney World. Their jobs entailed running the register, handling money, stocking and helping customers.

The average work week consisted of 38-40 hours, with overtime available. Students were required to attend seminars weekly, Copper said.

She noted that speakers at the seminar were management employees from marketing, finance and entertainment departments, who pertained their experience of basic business principles to the daily operations of Walt Disney World.

The last seminar was very beneficial to the students because it covered such topics as cover letters, resumes and interviewing for jobs, Lovell said.

Participants in the program stayed in a nearby apartment complex. The rent expense was automatically deducted from the students' wages. Transportation and utilities were included in this deduction, Copper noted.

Among the advantages of this summer job were the nearby sights, such as Bush Gardens. Students had the chance to enjoy time off at Daytona Beach or any of the many nearby resorts, Copper said.

An additional benefit was free admission into the park. There were shows and programs, such as The Polynesian Review and a Hawaiian Luau, Lovell said.

Copper said the program encouraged interaction between college students from different parts of the world by having them live and work together.

The program seemed to be geared toward business marketing majors, Copper said.

Interviews for internships with major companies could be set up through the Disney program, Copper said.

Although the wages were not overly high, the work experience and the contacts that could be made at Disney were priceless, Lovell said.

"Misinformation is a major part of the agency's covert operations," McGehee said.

"The techniques of covert operations are universal," he said, adding that forged documents, lies and deceit were routine procedures.

To help his campaign against the CIA, McGehee has undertaken the task of computing all information printed on the agency.

To date, he said he has found over 10,000 pieces of information that are considered public knowledge to be used in future talks and books.

For now, the gray-haired ex-agent plans to continue his quest of convincing the public to be more critical of what is fed to them and use their own intelligence.

Golfers 2nd at St. Joe's Invite

By MIKE FITZGERALD
Sports editor

Eastern's golf team finished second out of 10 teams in the St. Joseph College Invitational Friday.

The Panthers shot a team total of 304, and finished in second place behind the University of Indianapolis which shot a team total of 294.

Pacing the Panthers were Todd Bittle with a 74 and Kevin Triefenbach with a 75. Bittle tied for fifth while Triefenbach tied for seventh.

"Todd played really well," coach Paul Lueken said. "And anytime your No. 5 man shoots 75, you have to be happy with that."

Dean Grunewald shot a 77 while John Varner shot a 78. Jeff Schafer shot an 83 to round out Eastern's scorers.

Although Lueken was happy about the second place finish, he feels the Panthers can do better.

"We're happy, but we're not totally satisfied yet," Lueken said.

Eastern will have an opportunity to improve upon its finish when it plays in the Evansville University Invitational Tournament on Monday and Tuesday.

Soccer team wins, ties in Virginia

By AL LAGATTOLLA
Staff writer

Eastern's soccer team headed to Virginia and the Patriot Classic this weekend, and came away with a victory and a tie that upped its record to 3-1-1.

On Saturday, the Panthers faced American University and won 3-1.

Sophomore forward Mario Mihalic started the scoring with his first goal of the season assisted by junior midfielder David Kompare.

Kompare also scored his first goal of the season later, assisted by sophomore LeBaron Hollimon and senior forward Mark Noffert scored his fourth goal of the season assisted by freshman fullback Tom Pardo.

"It was a real aggressive game," said Panther assistant coach Guy Callipari. "The mid-field bent, but did not break."

The victory upped the Panther's record to 3-1 going into the George Mason game.

On Sunday, the Panthers faced a George Mason team that was ranked No. 11 in the country.

Eastern began its scoring with Noffert recording his fifth goal of the season, which tied him with junior fullback Garry Laidlaw.

That tie did not last long because Laidlaw, last week's AMCU soccer Player of the Week, scored the second Panther goal assisted by Noffert.

The Panthers were trailing 3-2 midway through the second half, when Kompare erupted with his second goal in as many games to give the Panthers a 3-3 tie, which is how the game ended.

"We were pleased with the play overall," said Callipari. "We responded well under pressure."

Goalkeeper David Middleton, who was replaced in the second half of the Bradley game last weekend, apparently won his job back full-time as he played both games in their entirety, recording 21 saves altogether.

Middleton had been splitting time with sophomore Mike Barclay, who replaced Middleton in the Bradley game.

At Smith Corona, simplicity is the mother of invention.

Our engineers racked their brains so you won't have to.

We started out with a very simple idea.

To make electronic typewriters and word processors that have lots of great features but are very simple to use.

We make the simplest typewriters in memory.

So simple you don't have to keep one eye on your typing and one eye on the instruction manual.

So simple you don't need a degree in computer programming to operate them.

So simple they can even make a confirmed non-typist comfortable at the keyboard.

Call it human engineering if you like. Or call it ergonomics. Or call it plain old inspiration.

What we came up with is a line of remarkable typewriters that are sophisticated without being complicated.

In fact, they're unlike any other typewriters you've ever seen before... or used before... or muttered at before.

Take our new Smith Corona SD 700. (Lots of people are going to.)

We call the SD 700 the Memory Typewriter. You just may call it the simplest typewriter in memory.

It features a 7000 character editable memory you can access with the mere flip of a switch.

Combined with the 16 character LCD display, you can proofread, correct and make changes before you ever put anything down on paper.

Of course, should you want to Give your typing a screen test.

make changes on paper, we've made that simpler than ever too.

On the SD 700, as well as on every new Smith Corona typewriter, you'll find our new correcting cassette.

It's easy-to-load and you can insert it in seconds.

There are no spools to unwind. No complicated threading. No tangles.

So now correcting mistakes is as easy as making them.

We've reformed the correction system.

Add features like a Spell-Right™ 50,000 word electronic dictionary, WordFind™, WordEraser™, Full Line Correction and much more and you've got a typewriter that's not just incredibly simple to use, but simply impossible to pass up.

Of course, the same goes for every other Smith Corona typewriter and word processor as well.

Which is why we recommend that you hurry to your nearest store and try our machines yourself.

Obviously, they won't come to you. Yet.

Spikers finish third in Northern tourney

ALL LOOBY
writer

Eastern volleyball team 4-4 over the weekend after being third out of four teams in the Huskie Invitational at Northern Illinois.

Lady Panthers defeated Northern Illinois on Friday night 15-13, 15-12, 15-3. They proceeded to defeat both Northern Illinois (7-3, 15-12 and 13-15) and Cincinnati (15-8, 6-15, 10-15 and 12-15) on Saturday.

Northern Illinois won the tournament with a 3-0 record.

The Missouri victory proved costly for the spikers. Sophomore standout outside hitter Diane Kruto was injured and did not return to play Saturday.

"She hurt her knee," Eastern coach Betty Ralston said. Ralston said Kruto's knee was stiff and said she will see a doctor. In addition Kruto may also have a pulled hamstring, Ralston added.

Ralston said Kruto's absence did have an effect on the play of the Lady Panthers. "Our passing definitely suffered."

She said replacing Kruto would be a difficult task. "We missed her aggressiveness, now we will have to find someone to replace her."

Senior outside hitter Laura Bruce paced the Lady Panthers in the Missouri game with 10 kills.

She also had 11 digs.

Junior setter Donna Sicher turned in another solid performance with 33 assists.

In the Saturday's matches, Ralston was disappointed with the team's play. "We definitely did not play to our potential."

She said the problems she was concerned with were the passing game and the concentration of the players.

She added that she really didn't like the format of the tournament. "I don't like to make excuses but we were sitting around all day waiting to play." The Lady Panthers played at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. Saturday night.

Ralston said in the last two games against Northern, the Lady Panthers battled back to tie the games at 13 only to lose the next two points on mistakes.

"We have to start making the other teams earn their points."

Men harriers 11th, women 19th at Midwest Collegiate Championships

writer

Men's cross country placed 11th, and the women's cross country team placed 19th in the Midwest Collegiate Championships on the campus of the University of Wisconsin-Parkside in Kenosha.

Men's 11th-place finish out of a field of 23 teams. The women took 19th in a field of 27.

The men's race was hampered by 80-degree heat, which played havoc with the runners' times and stamina. The weather was a factor with the Lady Panthers coach John Akers. "It even forced several runners to be hospitalized."

With the men's 11th-place finish, Akers said the weather was an excuse for the Panthers' performance.

"Our placing was no indication of what team we are," Akers said. "I could be pleased with an 11th-place (finish), but I feel we're better than that."

The men were paced by the efforts of a couple of underclassmen. Freshman Mike Stier was Eastern's best finisher, placing 57th at 28:01, while sophomore Gary Brown took 72nd at a clip of 28:21.

Junior Shannon Hough, who is still plagued by some minor aches and pains, bagged 75th at 28:29.

"Our No. 1 and 2 men were a freshman and a sophomore," Akers said. "I was pleased with Mike Stier, and Gary Brown has been very consistent. I just thought our juniors and seniors would run better."

Senior Tim Wons took 82nd at 28:43, while freshman Brett

Carlson placed 115th overall at 29:35, rounding out the scoring for the Panthers.

Even though Akers was not pleased with the Panthers' performance, he had to be happy with redshirt senior John Wells.

Wells ran the meet as an open competitor and placed 17th of 217 entrants at a time of 26:39.

"John went out and got after it," Akers said. "He didn't let the hilly course and warm weather bother him. He ran a very competitive race."

The Lady Panthers were once again paced by sophomore Laurie Mizener. Mizener took 21st overall at 18:58.

"The weather hampered her time, but I don't want to make excuses, because everyone had to run in it," Craft said. "Her time was high but she ran well."

Freshman Stefanie Stump was 88th overall at 20:34.

Panthers tip Flames 28-27

Arnold's 11-yard TD pass seals victory with :05 left

By DAVID LINDQUIST
Staff writer

Like everyone else in O'Brien Stadium, Eastern wide receiver Ralph Stewart knew the magnitude of his catch with five seconds remaining in Saturday's game against Liberty.

"Win it, win it, win it" was all that I was thinking," Stewart said of his 11-yard touchdown reception from quarterback Eric Arnold.

And the Panthers did seize a 28-27 victory over the Flames, overcoming a deficit of twelve points in the contest's final eight minutes.

"Things looked bleak, I'll admit," Eastern coach Bob Spoo said. "But we have a better team than I ever imagined. I'll just say it's hard for Liberty to play as hard and as well as they did and come away one point short."

Liberty seemed to have the contest won during the game's middle stages, outscoring the Panthers 27-6 during a 27-minute stretch.

"We obviously didn't play as well as we could of," Spoo said. "But in spite of that, we could see a flicker of light and got things done. It's a tribute to the team."

The light of victory was first seen by sophomore fullback John Sengstock, who broke numerous tackles in an awe-inspiring 18-yard touchdown run with 7:07 left.

"God carried the ball on that play," Arnold half-joked of Sengstock's rush that left Liberty a reachable 27-22 lead.

Eastern's defense then shut down Liberty on three plays, forcing a punt with 5:26 left.

But on the first play of Eastern's drive, Arnold threw the last of his four interceptions and gave the ball back to Liberty on the Panthers' 46-yard line.

"At that point I thought it was over," Spoo conceded. "You have to credit the defense."

four times the points it had given up in the Panthers' first two contests, rose up and forced the Flames to settle for a 31-yard field goal attempt.

Liberty kicker Joe Pouncey missed the field goal to the left, giving Arnold a chance to vindicate himself with 2:02 remaining and 80 yards field to cover.

"Somebody was looking out for us tonight," Arnold said. "You try to stay positive after interceptions. We just kept reminding ourselves of our comeback against Indiana State last year."

Sengstock rushed for a game-winning 24-yard TD run with 46 seconds remaining in Eastern's 20-14 victory over Indiana State last season.

He also played a big role in the Panthers' victory drive again Saturday.

After Arnold passed for two first downs and a Flames' offside penalty accounted for another, the Panthers pulled the old Statue of Liberty play with Sengstock gaining 11 yards.

Sengstock's rush gave Eastern a first down on Liberty's 11-yard line with nine seconds left.

"We hung together and picked each other up all night," Sengstock said. "We played every play all the way through."

On the two plays before Sengstock's rush, Arnold had two passes to Stewart broken up in the end zone by Liberty cornerback Richard Shelton, an All-American candidate who ran back an interception 44 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter.

So when the Panthers loaded up one more time for a game winner, Spoo made a crucial change.

"Why are we running plays to an All-American (Shelton)?" Spoo said he asked offensive coordinator Kit Cartwright. "We moved Ralph to the left side and put him basically on a lesser player."

Arnold threw to Stewart, who was ahead of his defender by two steps, for the touchdown that capped a 1:57 drive.

"Ralph ran a textbook corner route," Arnold said of the score. "This team just has more pride than any other I've ever been associated with."

Liberty Coach Morgan Hout also showed a degree of dignity, as he congratulated Spoo Eastern's football office after Saturday's contest.

"There's an individual courage and class," Spoo said. "As far as we're concerned, the game shows us we can't be self-satisfied. I think it will have a settling effect and bring us down to earth."

The victory gives the Panthers 3-0 record this season, while Liberty drops to 2-1.

In Saturday's only Gateway Conference game, Western Illinois snuck by Southern Missouri State 35-31.

Gateway winners in non-conference action were Northern Iowa, 59-14 over Morgan State and Southern Illinois, 28-21 over Murray State.

Vikings rip Bears 31-7

CHICAGO (AP)—Tommy Kramer passed for three touchdowns, two to Anthony Carter, and the Minnesota Vikings took advantage of five turnovers Sunday for a smashing 31-7 victory over the Chicago Bears.

Kramer, who completed 15 of 28 passes for 258 yards, threw touchdown passes of 40 and 16 yards to Carter and also hit Hassan Jones with a 19-yard touchdown pass.

Kramer left the game midway in the fourth quarter as a heavy rainstorm hit, but by then the outcome was beyond doubt.

By BILL LOOBY
Staff writer

Eastern's game with Liberty Saturday wasn't the most exciting for Eastern fans -- until three plays in the fourth quarter brought the Panther followers to their feet and lit a spark of hope for victory.

Just when all seemed lost -- with 7:41 left and Eastern trailing by 12 points -- the Panthers sent punter Brian Pindar into the game on a fourth-down play with eight yards to go for a first down.

But Pindar faked the punt and threw to Scott Johnson, usually a defensive back, for an eight-yard gain and a first down.

Pindar said the play didn't go exactly as it was diagrammed, but it still worked.

Johnson was covered on his original route, so he changed direction. Pindar eventually found Johnson in the left flat for the completion.

"I looked at him (Johnson), then I looked for John (Sengstock)," Pindar said. "He was covered too, so I looked back. Scott was open, so I passed it to him."

The freshman punter was also a quarterback on his Downers Grove North High School team.

Eastern coach Bob Spoo said he had confidence in the play call.

"Pindar and Johnson are two great athletes," he said.

The play put the ball on the Liberty 37-yard-line and set up two plays that brought Eastern within five points of the Flames.

Tailback James Marable took a pitch from quarterback Eric Arnold and went around the right end for a 19-yard pickup.

Then came "The Run."

Fullback John Sengstock took the ball from the 18-yard-line and, smelling the goal line, ran like a man possessed. The call was a sweep right. Sengstock took the ball around the end and down the right sideline shedding a tackler at the five and running over a final goal-line tackler like a freight train.

The touchdown pulled Eastern to within 27-22 with 7:07 left and whipped the Eastern crowd into a frenzy.

"I saw Marable lay a block, and I was going for it (the touchdown)," Sengstock said.

About the final defender, he said, "I hit him and I just spun away ... then I was in the end zone."

Marable, downplaying his own run that set up the Sengstock TD, said: "That was a great effort by Sengstock."

But he added the fake punt was probably the key to the drive.

"That fake punt really did it. It was the turning point," Marable said. "We were down in the first half, but we never got out of the game (after the fake punt)."

Spoo said he didn't doubt the ability of Sengstock to perform in the clutch. Sengstock ran for a 24-yard touchdown with 46 seconds left in Eastern's 20-14 win over Indiana State at Homecoming last year and ran 11 yards to set up the Panthers' game-winning TD with 46 seconds left Saturday.

"John's an incredible guy and a great player," Spoo said. "Thank God he's got more years after this one. Sometimes we don't appreciate what he does for us."
